While every effort is made to ensure accuracy in this program, graduation filing deadlines, printing deadlines, and degree audit adjustments can prevent inclusion of graduates' names or may result in publishing names of individuals not completing degree requirements. This program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's official academic or degree status.

About Our Speaker

Betsy Banks Saul, founder of Petfinder.com, is responsible for setting more than 25 million adoptions in motion.

With a vision to change the way the public viewed shelter pets, Betsy harnessed the infant technology of the Internet in 1996 and molded it into one of the most successful web businesses to date. The first site of its kind, Petfinder – which she describes as a social profit company – is still on a mission to see that no pet is euthanized for lack of a home and to increase the value of the family pet.

Currency on Petfinder is “lives saved” and profitability is measured in increasing the effectiveness of the shelter and rescue worker. Almost 18 years of consistent and steady growth (in adoptions, traffic and revenue), even in the face of turbulent “dot bomb” and recession years, translated to more than 5 million unique visitors each month and more than 2 million adoptions annually during her time at Petfinder. Betsy was named by Woman’s Day magazine as one of 50 “Women Who are Changing the World.”

In 2005, Betsy co-founded PetVideo.com, which became the adoption and training video initiative of Petfinder and AnimalPlanet.com. In 2006, media giant Discovery Communications acquired Petfinder.com in what Ad Age magazine called one of the “best (and sweetest) acquisitions of the year.” She continued to serve Petfinder – focusing on strategy, partnerships and public relations – until its acquisition by Nestle Purina in 2013.

Beyond Petfinder, Betsy’s attention is focused on broad-scale progress. She is co-founder and chairman of the board of the Petfinder Foundation and serves on the board for the Alliance for Contraception in Cats and Dogs and LoveAnimals.org. She also serves on the expert panel for Dognition, on the advisory board for the Wake County SPCA and on the board of overseers for Cummings School of Veterinary Medicine at Tufts University. She’s now bringing the same innovation and social entrepreneurship she brought to Petfinder to promote change to the vet community with a new start-up venture, Heal House Call Veterinarian.

Betsy received her bachelor’s degree with a minor in chemistry from Missouri Southern State University in 1989. She received her master’s in forest ecology from Clemson University in 1993.

Prior to creating Petfinder, she worked as an urban forester for the state of New Jersey, as an agriculture extension agent at Rutgers University, a park ranger at Wrangell-St. Elias National Park in Alaska, and as a field scientist for the Army Corps of Engineers in South Carolina.

Betsy prides herself in having friends in high and low places, so her family includes a diversity of animals ranging from the very large (like Missy, a black Angus cow who likes to have her belly rubbed) to the diminutive Sydney, a box turtle who recently learned to recognize his name.

The first graduates of the cooperative graduate programs received diplomas at Missouri Southern State University during the spring 2006 ceremony. This milestone was possible when MSSU and Northwest Missouri State University collaborated to combine their resources and expand higher education opportunities in Southwest Missouri and the Four-States region.

In addition to Northwest, MSSU has since forged partnerships with Missouri State University, Southeast Missouri State University, University of Missouri-St. Louis and the University of Missouri-Kansas City to unite efforts to deliver the programs with traditional classroom teaching and state-of-the-art distance learning tools using faculty from each of the universities.

Effective August 2003, the Missouri General Assembly passed legislation giving Missouri Southern State University the opportunity to offer joint graduate programs in cooperation with other public four-year institutions in the State of Missouri (RSMo 173.005). The Coordinating Board for Higher Education oversees implementation of the cooperative programs to ensure the most efficient use of state resources and the highest quality of advanced educational opportunities.

During the ceremony, the presentation of the academic hood to master's degree recipients represents a compelling, highly symbolic moment in both the candidates' lives and in the commencement ceremony. The hooding ceremony for the cooperative graduate programs at MSSU signifies a scholarly and personal achievement. Colors of the hoods were carefully selected to represent both institutions and the corresponding fields of study.

MSSU will continue to develop these and other programs in order to fulfill its mission and to meet the needs of the growing population and economy of the region.

ALMA MATER

Words by Mary Laird,
Class of '39

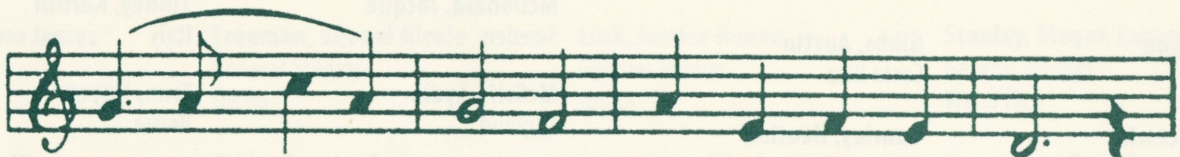

Music by Emerson Jackson,
Class of '39

Our Al - ma Ma - ter, we ho - nor thee, shap - ing and guid - ing our de - sti - ny.

Af - ter we have part - ed as the years roll by;

we'll keep each me - mo - ry hail, hail to thee.

Missouri Southern State University's "Alma Mater" was drafted during the Joplin Junior College second year by a group that included Mary Laird, Joan Epperson, Enos Currey, Ellen Beasley, and Emerson Jackson. Laird was principally responsible for the lyrics while Jackson set it to music. It was first sung during a Class-Day program in 1939.

Points of Pride

New partnership forged

An articulation agreement between Missouri Southern State University and St. Charles Community College to promote the Environmental Health & Safety program was signed on April 9.

"It's not just an articulation agreement. It's more of a partnership," said Dr. Michael Fletcher, professor of biology and environmental health.

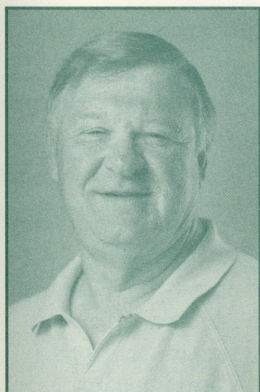

The degree is structured to teach students about the science of preventing physical, chemical or biological hazards from adversely impacting human health or the environment. Students in the Environmental Health program who pass their senior assessment exam obtain their bachelor's degree as well as their Certified Environmental Health Specialist credentials with the state of Missouri.

The degree program requires 45 core hours of courses. The general education and science classes will be completed at the community college, with the environmental health courses from Missouri Southern offered online. Exams from those courses will be proctored by faculty at the community college near St. Louis.

"The changes to the Environmental Health degree program are a great example of the university's ongoing Continuous Quality Improvement efforts," said Interim President Dr. Alan Marble. "This partnership increases the value of the degree and allows students to better market themselves to potential employers.

"This agreement will increase the program's numbers while allowing students at St. Charles Community College to obtain the degree without leaving their own campus."

Governor's Award for Excellence in Education

Dr. Mike Lawson, a member of the Biology Department faculty at Missouri Southern State University, was selected to receive the 2014 Governor's Award for Excellence in Education.

The annual award is presented to an outstanding faculty member from each of Missouri's four-year higher-education institutions. At Missouri Southern, nominations are brought forward and discussed by the Deans Council, which then selects the recipient.

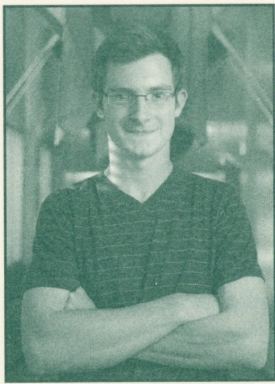

The courses Lawson teaches include microbiology, anatomy and physiology and principles of biology. "There's certainly a lot of very deserving and excellent faculty here on this campus," he said. "To be honored like this has been very flattering, and I'm especially honored to have been nominated for this by some of my colleagues. That makes it more special."

Before coming to Missouri Southern 23 years ago, Lawson spent 19 years teaching high-school science in the Golden City, Sarcosie and Carl Junction school districts.

He said he made the transition to teach at the college level in part for the chance to work with students who wanted to teach science.

"I love seeing that light bulb light up when students understand something ... when they make that connection, assimilate concepts and understand the true meaning of what we're talking about," said Lawson. "Those are the kind of things that excite me about my students."

Study in China scholarship recipient

Matthew Roy, a junior international studies major from Carthage, has been awarded a $10,000 Study in China Scholarship by the Chinese Ministry of Education in Beijing.

Roy, who is minoring in Chinese and serving as president of the Asian Club at Missouri Southern, will attend the Communication University of China (CUC) in Beijing during the 2014-15 academic year. Missouri Southern and CUC have had a partner relationship since 2004.

Ten American undergraduate students attending American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) member institutions were awarded the scholarships, which provide tuition, room and board, health insurance, conference fees and a stipend.

The other scholarship recipients are from Bowling Green State University, Western Kentucky University, California State University-Long Beach, Indiana University-Kokomo, the University of North Georgia, New Jersey City University, Indiana University of Pennsylvania and the University of Southern Indiana.

Hall of Fame induction

Dr. Pat Lipira was inducted into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame on April 24 as part of the organization's Women in Sports Luncheon.

Lipira is the winningest coach in Missouri Southern State University history (total wins across all sports). She coached the Lions' softball team from 1982-2000 and the volleyball team from 1981-1987. She has a 632-275 (.697) overall record as a softball coach, but compiled a 439-162 (.730) mark while the Lions were members of the MIAA. In her 12 seasons as a softball coach in the MIAA, Lipira guided the Lions to six Regional Championship appearances, two Regional Championships, four MIAA Championships and an NCAA National Championship in 1992.

A five-time MIAA Coach of the Year and two-time Regional Coach of the Year, she was the National Coach of the Year in 1992. English majors invited to convention

Three Missouri Southern English majors – Ruth Stamper, Kristine Steddum and Madison Pollock – were invited to read original works during the annual Sigma Tau Delta International Convention in Savannah, Ga.

Stamper won first prize in her category and was awarded $600. As well as being invited to present two separate pieces of work, Steddum awarded the only Part-Time Undergraduate Scholarship for $2,500.

The convention receives an average of 20,000 entries each year, but only 500 to 600 are invited to present. Missouri Southern has consistently sent at least two individuals to the convention every year.

The 2014 conference was especially important for Missouri Southern, as it also marked the 35th anniversary of the Joplin Sigma Tau Delta chapter.

Academic Attire and Regalia Cords

As early as the twelfth century the first modern universities, at Bologna and Paris, were centers of European learning. The usual garb of the time, for both churchmen and laymen, was a long gown which was necessary for warmth in the unheated buildings of the day. Scholars, generally members of churchorders, wore such robes and also hoods to protect their shaven heads. Later, skull caps were worn on the head, and the hood became a cape which could be pulled over the head in unpleasant weather. The hood was also sometimes used to collect alms from the more affluent members of the community. As additional universities were founded, distinctive forms of the gown and hood were adopted by their faculties. Variations indicated ranks within the institutions. Strict rules were published and in some cases punishment cited for tailors who departed from the authorized design.

The academic hat was a later development, adapted from the headdress of the ordinary people. Academically, it was originally worn as a symbol of the master's degree, and existed in various forms: some were round, some square and some had a tuft in the center. The flat, square "mortar board" of today originated at Oxford University in England.

Academic costume came to America in 1754 with the founding of King's College, now Columbia University. Styles became quite varied as they were in Europe, but in 1895 a group of American college and university representatives met to establish a uniform system of academic apparel for this country. This led to the establishment in 1902 of an "Intercollegiate Code of Academic Costume." The American Council of Education formed a committee in 1932 to review the 1895 code, which was again reviewed and revised in both 1960 and 1965.

There are today three basic types of gowns and hoods. The bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves and is designed to be worn closed. Recipients of the associate degrees wear gray gowns designed like the bachelor's gown. The master's gown is designed with an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist and with an arc cut away at the front of the sleeve. It may be worn either open or closed. The doctoral gown is of a full design with voluminous sleeves, and it also may be worn open or closed. Unlike the other two, the doctoral gown is faced down the front with velvet and with three velvet bars on the sleeves. These may be black or a color related to the subject of the degree. Thus, arts, letters and humanities may be white, business degrees may be drab or sapphire blue, education uses light blue, fine arts is brown, music is pink and science is golden yellow, to name a few.

The caps are always black, with a black tassel for baccalaureate degrees and a tassel of the color indicated above for master's. Doctoral caps usually have a tassel of metallic gold color.

The hoods worn by master's degree recipients are lined with the official colors of the institution awarding the degree. The binding and edging of the hood is silk or velvet in the color pertaining to the subject area. Doctoral hoods are longer and designed somewhat fuller, but the colors again are those of the institution granting the degree for the lining, and of the subject for the wide edging. There exists a small bachelor's hood, but generally it is not used in this country.

The hoods represented in MSSU ceremonies are a combination of colors from each of the collaborating institutions. Traditional colors and corresponding fields of study are:
